

PSYC 123

Social Psychology

3 Units
54 hours lecture; 54 hours total

This course considers individual human behavior in relation to the social environment. The power of the situation, other individuals, and the social group will be examined. Topics may including: aggression, prejudice and stereotypes, interpersonal attraction, attitudes and attitude change, conformity, group dynamics, gender roles, cultural norms, and social cognition.

CSU, UC

Student Learning Outcomes:

1. Analyze and demonstrate an understanding of social cognition theories and research.
2. Analyze and demonstrate an understanding of social interaction theories and research.
3. Analyze and demonstrate an understanding of social influence theories and research.